Upcoming Apprenticeship Program and Job Fairs

FREE: Biomanufacturing Technician Apprenticeship Program - 3 week course

Offered at the Indiana Life Sciences Center at Ivy Tech,
501 Profile Pkwy, Bloomington, IN 47404
July 12th – July 30th – Monday - Friday from 8am to 4pm

An excellent opportunity for individuals interested in starting a new career with a life science company in the Bloomington and Spencer area.

Are you ready to start your journey in a career in the life science industry? If so, the Biomanufacturing Technician Apprenticeship program will focus on key skills you need to take the next step. Over the course of a 3-week program, you will gain knowledge and hands-on experience in specific skills outlined by area employers. Coursework focuses on several aspects of being a bio-manufacturing technician including safety, use of equipment, PPE & proper gowning techniques, and current Good Manufacturing Practices (cGMP).

Participants will:

- Explore manufacturing processes to be better prepared for the workplace and develop required skill sets in the production of biopharmaceuticals and medical devices.
- Discover work environments, products manufactured, and career advancement opportunities.
- Experience how technicians use math and technology to complete tasks and document results.
- Successful completion of the course will earn you a certificate and a direct interview with a life science company to start your apprenticeship journey!

Tuition is FREE for participants with cost of training covered by a grant. Students are NOT paid to attend the training and will need to provide own transportation and lunch.
